George seems more drawn to Stacy Keibler as time goes by, says a source

Stacy's playing George JUST RIGHT

Clooney's anti-marriage STANCE IS SOFTENING

GEORGE CLOONEY swears he'll never tie the knot again, but girlfriend Stacy Keibler apparently has other plans – and her scheme seems to be working!

As the lovebirds approach their second dating anniversary, insiders say Stacy is playing the Oscar winner's heart like a fiddle.

"At first, I wouldn't have given them two months, much less two years," a family friend told The ENQUIRER. "While Stacy is certainly gorgeous, she's this D-List celebrity on the arm of one of the most powerful men in Hollywood.

"BUT GEORGE ONLY SEEMS MORE drawn to her as time goes by."

Another source notes that leggy Stacy – a former pro wrestler – has been "unbelievably savvy" in navigating her relationship with George.

The friend continued: "She studied him and learned to keep her distance when she needs to. She knows that other women forced themselves too quickly into his life and he hated that.

"She goes off and does her own thing whenever George is spending time with his pals or is deep into a film project – she doesn't even call him. But eventually, he starts missing her, and he's the one who calls. She lets George come to her."

George, 51, divorced "Homeland" actress Talia Balsam in 1993 after four years of marriage. Although he's dated some of the most beautiful women in the world since then, he's publicly affirmed many times that there'll never be another Mrs. Clooney.

Still, the family friend says not to bet against Stacy, 33.

"This is the most comfortable I've ever seen George in a relationship," the friend added. "I think George may even realize, as he's getting on in years, his pledge to remain a bachelor is kind of a hollow one."

JENNIFER LAWRENCE'S 'BACHELOR' CONFESSION

The actress is a reality TV addict

Oscar-winning beauty TRIED TO BE CONTESTANT ON SHOW!

JENNIFER LAWRENCE's recent Best Actress Oscar win has put her on the top of the A-list, but if the 22-year-old beauty had her way, her next gig would be as a contestant on "The Bachelor"!

Hollywood's current "It girl" is a big reality TV fan, and she's so enamored of "The Bachelor" that she approached the show's host Chris Harrison at the Oscars and gushed about it. What's more, she once pleaded with her handlers to try to get her onto the popular ABC dating competition.

"Her agent and publicist were aghast," said a source. "They told her, 'You don't want to do this!' "She said, 'Yes, I do.'

Chris Harrison

"They had to talk her out of it."

The "Silver Linings Playbook" star has confessed that she's crazy about reality television.

Kentucky-born and raised Jennifer revealed to a reporter that her L.A. apartment was "like a reality TV show cave," where she spends her downtime from film roles by catching up on the latest series.

"I JUST LEARNED HOW TO work TiVo," she said, adding: "That changed my life."

And she's not kidding! While out with friends, she admits that she often finds herself preoccupied with what she's missing on TV.

She said: "When I'm out, I think about my couch...like, 'It would be awesome to be on it right now. I bet there's an episode of 'Dance Moms' on. Am I missing a new episode of 'Keeping Up With the Kardashians'? I'm just stressed by the idea of missing them."

'DUCK DYNASTY' MARITAL ADVICE

Phil Robertson made his fortune with a duck-call company

Look for Bible-toting, bullfrog-eating woman – and marry her young!

"DUCK DYNASTY" patriarch Phil Robertson may not look like someone you'd turn to for marital advice, but that hasn't stopped the outspoken reality star from dishing it out!

His ideal woman? A duck-plucking, bullfrog-eating, Bible-reading country girl who can cook.

"My idea of happiness is killin' things, skinnin' things, pluckin' things and having a big meal with all of your children and grandchildren around," Phil declared.

By those standards, Phil must be a very happy guy. He and his wife, Miss Kay, whom he married when she was just 16, have four children and 14 grandchildren.

"The first prerequisite is to check a girl's cooking" said Phil. "If she'll pluck the duck you just killed, that's good, but if her cooking don't stack up – ADIOS! You can't live off of love alone or you'll starve. Then make sure she carries her Bible and lives by it every day. And she don't have to be pretty, neither. Besides, it's hard to find pretty girls who carry the Bible around these days.

"Get someone who is meek, gentle, kind-spirited ...a country girl that loves to eat bullfrogs – now there's a woman. Don't get no yuppie girl."

Phil also thinks men should find a suitable woman when she's "15 or 16" – with her father's permission, of course!

Phil, 66, started whittling duck calls by hand out of cedar trees in his native Monroe, La., in 1972. That modest start has since launched the multimillion-dollar "Duck Commander" empire and catapulted the eccentric family's reality show, "Duck Dynasty," to the top of the ratings.

The Feb. 27 premiere of the series' third season drew a whopping 8.6 million viewers – doubling Season 2 numbers.

Willie followed his dad's advice and married Korie

PHIL'S SON WILLIE SEEMS TO BE following his father's advice when it comes to marriage. He met his wife, Korie, at a youth camp when she was in the third grade and he was in the fourth.

"She and I were poor together. It's taken years to get where we are now," Willie said recently. "I yield to her all the time. Women have a certain perception that a lot of men don't. Had I not been married to her, I never would have done anything that I've done today."

CROWE'S CRAZY ABOUT REALITY SHOW

Russell may have been drawn to "Duck Dynasty" because of the beards

"LES MISERABLES" star Russell Crowe is singing the praises of "Duck Dynasty."

The Aussie hunk wouldn't seem to have much in common with the backwoods Robertson clan – but they do share an affinity for beards. Russell, who's rarely seen clean-shaven, mused recently on Twitter that he was "drawn" to the show, possibly because of "the facial hair."

He later tweeted: "It's like the Waltons on Moonshine."

KRIS JENNER SEX TAPE MYSTERY

Did Kardashian mom tape X-rated romp with lover?

Bombshell could destroy marriage to Bruce

IN a stunning development, sources tell The ENQUIRER that Kris Jenner could be hiding a secret sex tape. And if it exists, it could destroy both her marriage and career!

Kim's notorious sex video

Insiders believe the mastermind of the Kardashian empire may have been caught on video during the 1980s, when she and her late husband Robert lived a wild lifestyle. And the incredible sex tape could now, after all these years, hit the market because of her huge success and threaten her estimated $75 million fortune.

ACCORDING TO ONE SOURCE, ROBERT TOLD HIS GOOD friend O.J. Simpson that he overheard Kris telling her girlfriend all about the scandalous tape.

"Robert said Kris was talking about how liberating it was to be filmed having sex and how it was a turn-on to watch herself with her lover," revealed a close source. "She said she felt like a porn star.

"When Robert heard that, he confronted Kris. But she laughed it off, telling him she was just kidding around. She said she knew he was there and wanted to teach him a lesson about eavesdropping on her conversations with her girlfriends.

The ENQUIRER recently reported on the Jenners' marriage woes

"Robert wasn't sure what to believe, so he told O.J. about it to see what he thought."

As The ENQUIRER previously reported, O.J. told pals that he slept with Kris in the mid-1980s during her marriage to Robert and has even joked that Khloe Kardashian is his biological daughter. He also reportedly enjoyed a three-way sex romp with Kris and his then-wife Nicole Brown Simpson.

O.J. claims he slept with Kris

"Back in the day when she was cheating on Robert, Kris was capable of anything," said a pal.

And in her sizzling memoir "Kris Jenner...and All Things Kardashian," the 57-year-old beauty admitted she carried on a torrid affair with a soccer player 10 years her junior, writing that they had "wild, crazy sex all the time, sex on the tennis court, sex in the pool house, sex in the garage, sex up and down the stairs, everywhere, all the time."

But now that Kris and her family are at the height of their success, filmed evidence of the Kardashian "momager's" sex-drenched past could be devastating – even if it was grainy, amateur footage from 30 years ago.

"IF A KRIS JENNER SEX TAPE IS released, it could destroy the Kardashian brand and be the final straw for her marriage to Bruce, which is already hanging by a thread," said the close source.

As The ENQUIRER has reported, the Olym-

KARDASHIAN SCIENTOLOGY NIGHTMARE

Kris warns Kylie ABOUT WILL SMITH'S KID

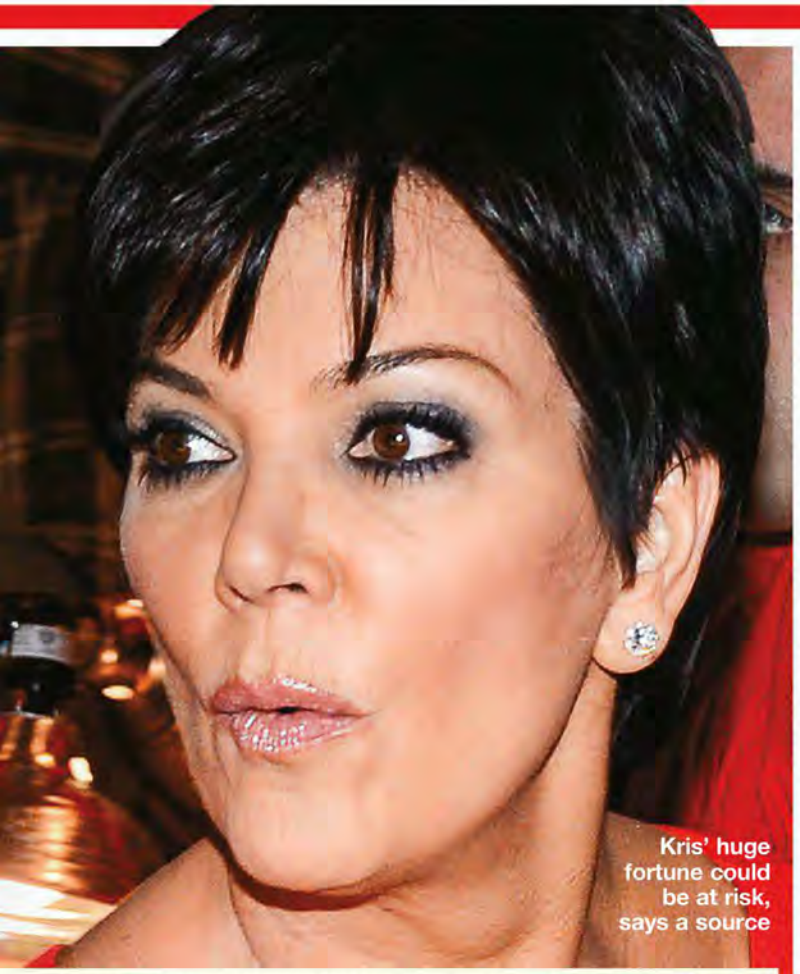
Kylie Jenner has gone on a series of dates with Jaden Smith

Will and Jada Pinkett Smith have been linked to Scientology

KRIS JENNER is terrified that her youngest daughter, Kylie, is going to get sucked into the controversial Church of Scientology if she continues to date "Karate Kid" star Jaden Smith – the son of Will and Jada Pinkett Smith.

THE BUDDING ROMANCE between Kylie, 15, and Jaden, 14 – who were spotted on a series of dates in London in early March – originally earned "momager" Kris' stamp of approval.

"They were going to be the new Kardashian 'celebrity couple,'" said an insider. "Kris' mind was going a mile a minute thinking about all of the business deals she could make in the teen market. But after pals alerted her to the Smith family's attachment to Scientology, she



Kris' huge fortune could be at risk, says a source pic hero has already secretly contacted lawyers about divorcing Kris in what could be a $155 million battle over the family fortune. What's more, the sex tape shocker could trigger a tidal wave of bad publicity for Kris just as she prepares for the debut of her new talk show this summer.

Incredibly, although the family matriarch was rumored to have brokered a deal to market her daughter Kim's infamous 2003 sex tape, the source insists she'd never release sex footage of herself.

"It's one thing for a single Kim, who was then in her 20s, to have made a sex tape," explained the source. "But a 30-year-old cheating mother of four young kids is another story!"

started having second thoughts about the relationship."

According to the insider, Kris is concerned that Jaden will pique Kylie's interest in the church, which could eventually "go after her money and try to control her career."

Will has publicly denied that he's a Scientologist, but he maintains a close friendship with the organization's most celebrated member, Tom Cruise, and has donated to groups affiliated with Scientology in the past. The "Men in Black" star told a reporter: "You don't have to be Jewish to be a friend of Steven Spielberg. You don't have to be a Muslim to be a friend of Muhammad Ali. And you don't have to be a Scientologist to be a friend of Tom Cruise...I respect all people and all paths."

'They were going to be the new celeb couple'

Still, Kris has her doubts. But insiders insist she has nothing to worry about.

"Jaden's a teenager," noted another source. "He's way more concerned with sports, girls and dating than he is with Scientology."

Michael with Jennifer Carpenter on "Dexter"

AFTER beating cancer, Michael C. Hall has discovered the joy of healthy cooking – and a close pal says the "Dexter" star credits it with saving his life!

After undergoing chemotherapy for Hodgkin's lymphoma in 2010, the 42-year-old actor became interested in eating better. Since then he's expanded that interest into fine cooking and has done everything from Asian to his own take on healthy Mexican, playing the role of chef in his Los Feliz, Calif., home.

"MICHAEL'S OBSESSED WITH healthy cooking. He says it's become a form of therapy after the horrible few years he's had," his friend told The ENQUIRER.

"Right now he's going through a Mediterranean diet phase. He's using organic produce and extra-virgin olive oil to prepare fish and chicken dishes for himself and friends at his house on Sunday afternoons."

Following his successful cancer treatment, Hall went back to work on the hit Showtime series. But then he suffered another blow when his marriage to "Dexter" co-star Jennifer Carpenter, who plays his sister Deb, ended.

"It might seem odd that they split up just when things began to look up for Michael," said the friend. "But the experience changed both of them – and in Michael's case, it was for the better."

Along with developing new culinary skills, Hall is living sober and works out religiously, noted the source.

"After facing death, Michael was not going to waste what he calls a second shot at life," said the friend.

"It's actually a point of pride for him that he's learned how to take care of himself properly. He gets a thrill out of serving a nutritious meal that he's prepared. With cooking as a creative outlet, he's not only more confident, he's also full of energy."

PUSSYCAT EXPRESS!

Deliveryman has PURR-FECT companion on his route

HOLD ON TIGHT!

RUDI SALDIA is quite the cat's meow as he pedals around the streets of Philadelphia making deliveries on his bike – because riding perched up on his shoulder is his kitty MJ!

"People can't believe it," Rudi told The ENQUIRER. "They always do a double take when they see us and say, 'Hey, look, that guy's got a cat on his shoulder.'

"They're blown away by it."

MJ is one cool cat as she sits atop Rudi, often moving from shoulder to shoulder and affectionately rubbing her head against his cheek as he pedals along.

"She loves it up there, she really does," said the 25-year-old deliveryman. "It's a sensory overload for her, like a dog with its head sticking out of a car window."

AND MJ ISN'T THE FIRST OF RUDI'S PETS TO ride along with him. He used to have three sugar gliders, small possumlike creatures, that would tag along in his breast pocket or on his shoulders. But MJ – short for Mary Jane – took their place after she was born in a closet drawer in Rudi's bedroom in April 2012.

"I didn't want to be away from her, so I wondered if she'd ride on my shoulder like my sugar gliders did," he said. "I put her up on my shoulder and we went out for a ride."

At first, Rudi just pedaled a block. When MJ seemed to dig it, he tried two blocks and more. "Now she rides with me all the time," he said. "She's very relaxed up there and could jump off any time she likes. If I thought it was dangerous for her, I wouldn't do it. I would never put her in harm's way."

Rudi and MJ hand over a package

Still, if he did have an accident, Rudi figures that MJ would be able to catapult herself to safety. "I'd probably be the one to get hurt," he said.

Meanwhile, MJ is so relaxed on his shoulders that she doesn't even dig her claws into him to hold on.

"My shoulders and back are scratch-free," he boasts.

The only thing that seems to get to MJ is a loud noise, like a bus or motorcycle.

"If I'm riding by a bus, she'll usually move over to the opposite side and crouch behind my helmet," he said.

But mostly, the two are just a sight to see.

"People always want to come up and pet her," he said. "I've never had any negative comments. Occasionally, I get some pretty perplexing stares, as if someone's wondering, 'Is he really doing that?'

"It doesn't bother me. I love having MJ with me. It makes me feel special."

The Beverly Hills restaurateur is the first member of the "Real Housewives" reality TV franchise to get a coveted invite to compete on "DWTS." While she's typically viewed as one of the most stable among the boozy Beverly Hills housewives, she found herself at the center of an embarrassing scandal in 2011 when customers at her Villa Blanca Beverly Hills eatery claimed that someone was changing the tip amounts on their credit card transactions AFTER they'd signed the charge slip. Lisa immediately got to the bottom of the scandal, fired the waiter responsible for the bogus charges and made amends with her patrons. But it looks like the gorgeous 52-year-old's fellow "Housewives" may be bitter about Lisa's upcoming gig. Insiders say many have tried – but none have succeeded – in getting on the show.

WYNONNA JUDD

Cactus Moser

This fiery redhead's life has been as trouble-filled as the lyrics to a country song! Wynonna was arrested for a DUI in 2003, went to rehab for food addiction in 2006 and has gone under the knife on several occasions in an effort to slim down. Now 48, she's on her third marriage. The first, to yacht salesman Arch Kelley, lasted two years, the second, to D.R. Roach, ended after he was busted on a pedophilia charge in 2007. Tragedy struck her third marriage, to drummer Cactus Moser, when he lost his left leg following a tragic motorcycle crash just two months after their wedding. But Wynonna's hoping the dark days are behind her – and she's planning to two-step her way to a big win AND a big loss on "DWTS"! "Dancing" alum Kirstie Alley will mentor the country firecracker as she gets in shape on the show.

VICTOR ORTIZ

Vanessa Bryant

He's danced his way around a boxing ring since he was a kid – now the 26-year-old former welterweight champ is getting ready to duke it out in the "DWTS" arena. But let's hope he doesn't pull any stunts like he did during his 2011 bout with Floyd Mayweather Jr.! During that fight, Victor intentionally head-butted his opponent, later admitting that he had been trying to break Mayweather's nose. But Floyd got revenge when he knocked Victor out just minutes later – while Victor was apologizing for his dirty deed. According to reports, Victor also briefly dated Vanessa Bryant – NBA star Kobe's wife – when the couple was on the outs. Victor denied the rumors, stating he "isn't even a fan of the Lakers." What star hoofers ARE HIDING FROM VIEWERS

A NEW batch of celebrities hits the hardwood on the 16th season of "Dancing with the Stars" – and The ENQUIRER exposes the shocking scandals that the contestants can't waltz away from.

KELLIE PICKLER

The 26-year-old country cutie may not have come up a winner on Season 5 of "American Idol," but Kellie is hoping her fortune changes when she hits the dance floor with pro partner Derek Hough. It's been a long road for Kellie. She was abandoned as a baby by her teen mom, Cynthia Morton, who claims she suffered regular beatings by Kellie's drug-abusing dad. Kellie was raised by her paternal grandparents and wrote the song "I Wonder" about her heartbreak over her mom ditching her. Cynthia has long pushed for a reconciliation with Kellie, but the two remain estranged.

Cast of "The Hughleys"

D.L. HUGHLEY

D.L. Hughley may be one of "The Original Kings of Comedy," but his debt to Uncle Sam is no laughing matter! The 50-year-old former star of the ABC sitcom "The Hughleys" is dusting off his tap shoes and joining the cast of "DWTS" so he can pay off his two HUGE tax liens! How huge? More than $1 million! While the paychecks will certainly come in handy, D.L. is hoping his fancy footwork will also lead to other gigs.

ANDY DICK

The openly bisexual former "NewsRadio" star is now known more for his drunken antics and multiple arrests than his acting skills. But "Dancing's" rigorous practice schedule may be just what the doctor ordered for the out-of-control comic. His arrest record includes busts for battery, public intoxication, indecent exposure and possession of marijuana and Xanax. But the 47-year-old insists he's clean and sober – and says he plans to stay that way throughout the competition. We'll have to see if this leopard has REALLY changed his spots!

Unlike happy-go-lucky Harry of yore, Flyboy Prince suddenly seems totally grounded after talking to Kate – taking every word she says in dead seriousness. "No one has seen Harry like this before," said the source. "It's obvious Cressida has won his heart – so we're all hoping that he doesn't mess things up. Even William's amazed at his brother's newfound maturity in realizing that he's found the right girl – and desperately wants to do the right thing and make it work."

PURR-FECT PAIR: Cat lover Eva Longoria hunkers down happily while her cuddly kitty enjoys a feline feast. The former "Desperate Housewives" star was in Nashville to promote a premium cat food.

FOUL BALL! Shocking near-disaster for terrified TIM ALLEN, who was abruptly trampled underfoot by hundreds of rampaging extras while lensing "Last Man Standing" – and had to be rescued by security guards. The scene, shot at Coors Field in Denver, called for the "fans" to go wild when a ball got belted into the stands. But the crowd suddenly turned way too rowdy, Tim lost his footing – and got slammed to the concrete. As the star disappeared under the sea of bodies the director yelled, "CUT...CUT!" Tim screamed curses as security heavies bulled through the melee, yanked the overacting extras off and got him to his feet – uninjured but mad as hell! Catching his breath, Tough Tim – battered but unbowed – faced the now shamefaced extras and bellowed: "Give me some room here!" Then they reshot the scene... safely.

■ With $15 million from "X Factor" jingling in her jeans, BRITNEY SPEARS spent some of it helping the homeless – or, rather, one shabbily-dressed guy who begged plaintively as she was about to enter a LA drugstore: "Please help me...I'm at the end of my rope!" Touched, Brit walked to a nearby ATM, withdrew five crisp $20 bills and placed them in the guy's grubby hand – then shrieked in surprise when he suddenly hoisted her in a big bear hug! Instantly, the store's security guard came running and snatched the buck$$ out of the guy's hand, shooing him away – but Brit barked: "No!...No! Give this man his money back! I gave it to him!" Said My SpyWitness, a pal of the star: "Britney's often seen as a wacky diva, but most times her heart's in the right place."

■ A family feud's erupted between expectant mom KIM KARDASHIAN and whip-cracking mom-ager KRIS JENNER, who doesn't want to let a little thing like motherhood put the family's biggest cash cow out to pasture! Kris had the chutzpah to inform Kim that after her baby by rapper KANYE WEST is born, she should please feel free to return to work right away because big sis KOURTNEY, already a mom of two, will pitch in with the heavy-lifting. "Kim was livid," divulged a friend. "She told Kris, 'You want Kourtney to raise MY baby?' Kim couldn't decide which was more insulting – her mother questioning her parental abilities or making it crystal clear that she's simply an ATM for the whole family." Kris tried to quash Kim's outrage, but her remarks have caused a rift. "Kim really wants this baby and wants to be a good mom," confided another pal, "and she'll do whatever it takes –Mom be damned!"

CROWNING GLORY: Is Rob Lowe getting carried away with the notion of Hollywood royalty? In attire better suited to Henry VIII, His Majesty Rob films a parade-float scene for "Parks and Recreation."

BUNNY HONEY: Beautiful mom-of-three Jennie Garth kicks off an autism fundraiser in New York, sponsored by – you guessed it! – a chocolatier. What a tasty way to start Easter season!

■ "SENATOR" GERALDO PUMPS IT UP! VIP visitors to New York City's WABC Radio never stop popping their heads into the studio where GERALDO RIVERA broadcasts his new nationally-syndicated daily program, gasping as the longtime fitness fanatic – and aspiring Senator from New Jersey – leaps up during every commercial break to pump furiously on a huge, shiny exercise bike installed a mere two feet from his microphone by celeb-friendly Gym Source! During one of my weekly "Mike Walker Gossip Game" appearances, my old pal snarked: "You could use one of these next to your desk, Mike!" (Really, Geraldo... REALLY?!) Hear me Fridays, 11:45 EST at WABCRadio.com.

■ JACKIE COLLINS just roared onto the "New York Times" best-seller list – and pledged a great surprise for whoever wins our Readers Contest based on her new book, "The Power Trip!" As promised, I'll pay $100 for your best, funniest or most insightful guess on the identity of the book's conniving politician character – but even if you're wrong, you can still win by writing the most witty or insightful take on why you made your choice. AND the winning entry, judged solely by me, also gets a signed copy of "The Power Trip!" Send entries by March 27 to mikegossip@nationalenquirer.com.

REEGE-JECTED: Just in case Regis is thinking of staging a coup to take back his old job, current "Live" star Michael Strahan reminds him who's large and in charge. The two met up in New York for a FOX Sports Media event.

■ BOLDFACE TWEETS DEPT.: Celebrity Twitter-Heads of the week are "Prairie" star MELISSA GILBERT, who tweeted @MelissaEGilbert: "I just had the most amazing massage of my life. I'm so melty and smushy I'm sitting in the car on my driveway too dazed to get out." And tapped-out star ELLEN BARKIN, tweeted @EllenBarkin: "I am totally giving up the idea of exercise. It's f boring & I'm too old to care. People should love me for who I am...or not."

■ The fierce flu season drove "Smash" star DEBRA MESSING buggy: After getting socked by the ailment TWICE, she wasn't...er, messing around when she started driving the staff nuts, insisting that everyone who comes in contact with her – wardrobe people, makeup artists, hair stylists, etc. – must wear surgical masks to muzzle germs! Even extras are quizzed to reveal whether they've been sick for any reason in the past 72 hours. Said my source: "If one of the extras so much as sneezes, they're immediately sent home – with pay! Even guest stars get strict instructions if they have to touch Debra, they'd better sanitize their hands first!" Aware her paranoia's got everyone rolling their eyes, Debra piped up on the set: "I'm sorry, everyone, but I'm not getting sick AGAIN! You'll all just have to put up with me." (Yeah, people...come CLEAN!)...And how was YOUR week? – with DEBORAH HUGHES

Robin Roberts: 2 YEARS TO LIVE!

– pals fear

Robin is easing back into the daily grind

DOCS' GRAVE WARNINGS to stricken 'GMA' star

"GOOD MORNING AMERICA" co-anchor Robin Roberts has snubbed her doctors' orders to slow down, and worried pals fear she has just two years to live!

The 52-year-old workaholic defied all odds by returning to the ABC show just five months after undergoing a painful bone marrow transplant in a last-chance bid to beat a cancer-related blood disorder.

"Robin's doctors have laid out the harsh truth for her – she'll be dead in two years if she doesn't give up her job and start taking it easy," said a source.

"But Robin is so competitive she can't help herself. When her friends and family try to talk sense to her, she responds by saying that she made a commitment to her co-workers on 'GMA.'

"Plus Robin was so depressed when she was stuck at home recovering. She says going to work is her happy pill."

> "She says going to work is her happy pill"

The plucky TV star's health woes began in 2007 when she was diagnosed with breast cancer. Robin underwent chemotherapy and radiation treatments, and in 2012 she was diagnosed with the debilitating blood condition myelodysplastic syndrome.

On Sept. 20, she received a bone marrow transplant – sister Sally-Ann was a matching cell donor. Gutsy Robin, a three-time Emmy winner as an ESPN sportscaster, returned to "GMA" on Feb. 20.

"Robin nearly killed herself to get back on the air in time for the crucial February sweeps, even though her bosses said it wasn't necessary," revealed the source.

"Then she pushed herself even further by flying out to Los Angeles for the Academy Awards."

But another source close to the brave broadcaster insists Robin is easing back into the daily grind.

"During the first week in March, she worked only two days," said the source. "Robin is following her doctors' advice and monitoring her schedule closely."

But stresses are mounting. ABC has been slammed for exploiting Robin's life-or-death battle and, as The ENQUIRER has reported, the never-married personality is said to be heartbroken over losing the love of her life, a woman named Storm Sahara.

Meanwhile, medical experts warn that Robin could be living on borrowed time.

As a bone marrow recipient, she now takes an immune system-suppressing drug that's "setting her up for developing more cancer," such as leukemia, said Dr. Gabe Mirkin (who has not treated Robin), a retired physician from Orlando, Fla., and author of "The Healthy Heart Miracle."

EVEN MORE OMINOUS, BONE MARROW transplants have only a 30 to 40 percent success rate, according to radiation oncologist Dr. Jerome Spunberg,

"Ms. Roberts is still in danger of developing potentially deadly graft-versus-host disease, in which the body rejects the transplanted bone marrow cells," he explained.

The source added: "Robin is playing Russian roulette. If she doesn't slow down, friends fear she won't have long to live."

RADAR FROM 'M*A*S*H' LIVES AT RV PARK

Gary (circled) with the cast of the classic TV series, "M*A*S*H." The actor admits he was difficult to work with

Beloved TV star, 69, SHUNS LIMELIGHT FOR SIMPLE LIFE

RADAR O'REILLY portrayer Gary Burghoff is living in a trailer park!

But don't feel sorry for the Emmy-winning "M*A*S*H" star – he does it by choice.

Burghoff, now 69, is an avid angler who spends his winters at Nature Coast Landings, an RV park in Crystal River, Fla., near the Gulf of Mexico. There, he fishes, rides his motorized scooter and takes his dog for long walks through nature paths.

"I've been fishing since I was 3 years old, and I love it," he says.

Burghoff, who also owns a home in Connecticut, happily hits the road in his RV to seek the big one all over the country. In fact, since his days on TV, Burghoff has fished in every state except Alaska and has even invented several angling products. The most successful is the "Chum Magic," a basket device that holds bits of fish food and hangs in the water to attract sea creatures.

"IT'S NOT A GLAMOROUS product, but it's very effective," notes Burghoff, who also markets powdered beef blood he gets from slaughterhouses as a fish-attracting ingredient to use in his "Chum Magic."

Burghoff shot to fame when he became the only primary actor to make the leap from the 1970 big-screen version of "M*A*S*H" to the hit sitcom, which premiered in 1972. Then he baffled critics in 1979 when he went AWOL from the show at the height of its popularity. The series followed the madcap adventures of a hospital field unit during the Korean War. Burghoff played naive but lovable corporal Walter "Radar" O'Reilly, the company clerk who slept with a teddy bear but always knew how to get things done.

Burghoff left the show as his first marriage to wife Janet crumbled and devastating depression set in. He said the blues were so bad it caused him headaches, fatigue and back pain so severe his body "was twisted like a pretzel."

His down-in-the-dumps mood made him difficult to work with and he feuded with his co-stars, including Capt. "Hawkeye" Pierce portrayer Alan Alda.

"My frequent snits and outbursts on the set were inevitably (and instantly) followed by guilt feelings over what I'd just said or done," Burghoff wrote in his 2009 book "To M*A*S*H and Back."

Burghoff and his second wife Elisabeth divorced in 2009, and nowadays his favorite companions are his pets, a cat, a dog and an angelfish.

The diminutive actor – who still does some regional theater and played a pastor in the 2010 Christian-oriented film "Daniel's

The actor takes a spin on his motor scooter

Lot" – is a man of many talents. Along with his fishing prowess and inventing, he does wildlife paintings that sell for upward of $10,000 each.

He's also an accomplished drummer who started the All-Star Dixieland Jazz Band after he left the series. The group toured jazz clubs around the country and cut an album that features vocals by Burghoff.

His music career actually predates "M*A*S*H."

In 1968, Burghoff was the drummer for a band called the Relatives. They played Vegas, and the lead singer was an up-and-coming actress named Lynda Carter.

CISSY BEGS DIONNE TO SAVE WHITNEY'S GIRL

But Bobbi Kristina is just too wild – FEAR INSIDERS

WHITNEY HOUSTON's mother Cissy has begged her niece, R&B legend Dionne Warwick, to mentor Whitney's wild-child daughter, sources say.

But at 72, the "Walk On By" singer says that she's too old to deal with headstrong 20-year-old Bobbi Kristina, who's known as "Krissi," the sources add.

"Cissy is really leaning on Dionne to take charge of Krissi," said a family friend. "Dionne has been hesitant, but Cissy is trying to guilt her into stepping in."

Krissi is resentful that mom Whitney was taken from her, says Dionne

AS THE ENQUIRER HAS REPORTED, CISSY and Krissi have been engaged in a nasty feud over Whitney's estate and legacy, with Krissi publicly slamming her grandmother's memoir, "Remembering Whitney."

Cissy, 79, is also concerned about Krissi's engagement to Nick Gordon, who was unofficially adopted by Whitney and has lived with Krissi since she was 9, sources say.

Meanwhile, Dionne has called her late cousin Whitney "the little girl I never had," and was one of the last people to speak to "The Bodyguard" singer before her tragic death in February 2012.

Dionne has also been close to Krissi over the years, and in a recent interview she expressed concern for the troubled teen.

"Bobbi is just like Whitney – she's stubborn and won't let anyone help her," Dionne said. "She's resentful that her mother was taken from her. She doesn't feel close to anyone in her family anymore. She's lost."

That's why Cissy is determined to enlist Dionne's help, said the source.

"She will always love Krissi and be there for her to talk to, but keeping Krissi on track from day to day is a battle that Dionne just isn't willing to take on."

WHOOPI'S SICK OF BARBARA

'Whoopi was happy Barbara wasn't at the studio'

BARBARA WALTERS was welcomed back on "The View" with open arms – by everyone but Whoopi Goldberg!

The show's outspoken moderator was a no-show when 83-year-old Barbara returned after being out six weeks due to her much-heralded fall and surprise case of chicken pox.

Real reason SHE SNUBBED WALTERS' 'VIEW' COMEBACK

"Whoopi was not happy that Barbara got hurt, but she sure was happy that Barbara wasn't at the studio either," a show insider told The ENQUIRER. "Whoopi has grown tired of Barbara's negative critiques and trying to micro-manage every little thing the women say."

BARBARA WAS HOSPITALIZED ON JAN. 19 AFTER fainting and cutting her head during inauguration weekend in Washington, D.C. The news legend needed six stitches, and doctors soon discovered that she was also suffering from chicken pox. She was ordered to stay home and rest in bed for at least six weeks. After just about six weeks to the day, Barbara returned to "The View" and was gushed over by co-hosts Joy Behar, Sherri Shepherd and Elisabeth Hasselbeck as well as guests, New York Mayor Michael Bloomberg and Regis Philbin. But Whoopi was M.I.A.

"Whoopi negotiated extra 'Barbara' days off in her contract, so when she gets fed up she can take a break to clear her head – or cool off – before she has to deal with Barbara again," explained the insider.

And she apparently used one of those days off when Barbara returned to the show on March 4.

"Whoopi was annoyed," said the source, "because the whole time Barbara was on sick leave she still watched the show and sent in her criticisms."

YOU READ IT HERE FIRST! Barbara's secret NOT safe from ENQUIRER readers

WHEN Barbara Walters returned to "The View" on March 4, she talked about how she fell and hit her head at an inauguration event but didn't realize she had chicken pox at the time. Barbara went on to explain that she caught the highly contagious airborne disease after hugging a good friend. She called the pal a "well-known actor" but refused to reveal his name.

However, ENQUIRER readers already knew who'd infected her. We revealed in our Feb. 25 issue that it was Frank Langella, who was suffering from shingles.

"If you have never had chicken pox, you can get it from someone with shingles," Barbara explained to the audience – but that was old news to ENQUIRER readers!

Courteney Cox's SHOCKING MELTDOWN

Her bizarre behavior HAS HOLLYWOOD BUZZING

"COUGAR TOWN" star Courteney Cox snapped during a recent red carpet event – and now pals fear she's on the verge of a major meltdown!

The former "Friends" beauty's boorish behavior at the March 5 gala in Los Angeles, held in honor of Al Gore, was due to her simmering resentment over how well her ex-husband David Arquette has adjusted to single life, say sources.

David Arquette

When a reporter asked the 48-year-old actress if she was excited to meet the former vice president, she snarled: "I will be when you stop wasting my time and let me get to my event."

split – and her career doesn't seem to be going anywhere, either.

"Cougar Town," which is in its fourth season, may face cancellation by TBS. And aside from a guest spot on former "Friends" co-star Matthew Perry's NBC series "Go On," the mom of 8-year-old Coco with David has no new projects in the works.

"David is doing great in his career and love life, but Courteney hasn't fared so well," added the insider.

"She should have at least tried to promote 'Cougar Town' or Perry's new show at the event, but she's clearly turned into a miserable person. Her bad behavior was all anyone could talk about that night."

by STEPHANIE WILBURN
tips@nationalenquirer.com

AN EYEWITNESS TOLD THE ENQUIRER: "You could tell something was really wrong with Courteney. She was throwing a fit right on the red carpet and was being evil to everyone who tried to talk to her.

"She made such a scene that everyone was shocked and disgusted with her. You could tell she's become a very bitter and angry person."

And sources say it's all because of her ex's success. David, 41, is expanding his celebrity nightclub chain, Bootsy Bellows, to Paris, and he's been spotted with a number of hot young women on his arm, including his younger on-again, off-again galpal Christina McLarty. Meanwhile, Courteney's love life has flatlined since their

EXPOSED! EDDIE MURPHY 'SON' IS A FAKE

THE ENQUIRER has discovered that a stand-up comic claiming to be Eddie Murphy's son is an outrageous fraud!

And the comedy legend is so upset he's threatening to sue the mysterious impostor.

THE PHONY, WHO'S A LOOK-ALIKE for the "Beverly Hills Cop" star, has convinced club owners he's Eric Murphy – Eddie's 23-year-old son with his former girlfriend Paulette McNeeley.

Incredibly, the identity thief had the audacity to headline alongside Richard Pryor's son Franklin at a Sons of Comedy event and was recently featured at The Dakota Lounge in Santa Monica.

TRAVOLTA'S DESPERATE PLEA TO STREISAND

'Grease' star BEGS BABS TO RESCUE HIS CAREER

John and Olivia's music CD "This Christmas" had tepid sales

DESPERATE to jump-start his music career, John Travolta cornered his idol Barbra Streisand at the Oscars and begged her to do an album with him.

The 59-year-old "Grease" star – who's been a huge fan of Babs since his 20s – is trying to bounce back from his train wreck of a Christmas CD and much-maligned video he did with Olivia Newton-John last year.

The album's single, a duet he sang with Olivia called "I Think You Might Like It," was widely panned by fans and critics. And its cheesy promotional video was targeted for special ridicule.

It features a waxy-looking Travolta with close-cropped, jet-black hair landing a plane in time to meet Olivia for Christmas. Bloggers blasted it as creepy and bizarre.

One critic cracked that it has "the production values of a car-dealer commercial."

Travolta also recorded a track with Streisand on the Christmas album, and despite its tepid sales, he still "believes that when it comes to music, Barbra has the Midas touch," revealed an insider.

"John sees a collaboration with her as a resurrection for his music career. That's why he jumped at the chance to pitch his album idea to her backstage at the Academy Awards."

The "Saturday Night Fever" star hopes to record a smash hit with Streisand by following the example of Frank Sinatra, whose "Duets" album went triple-platinum 20 years ago.

"JOHN SAYS THERE'S ALWAYS been a market for this type of album," disclosed the source. "It appeals to the older generation, which he thinks is too often ignored by the music industry.

ENQUIRER SCOOPED WORLD ON SOFIA SURROGATE NEWS

YOU READ IT HERE FIRST!

FANS rejoiced for Sofia Vergara when media outlets reported that the "Modern Family" star plans to use a close friend as a surrogate to carry her child with fiance Nick Loeb.

But that was old news to ENQUIRER readers!

Way back in December, we broke the news that the 40-year-old Latina bombshell – who has a 20-year-old son – was visiting reproduction specialists at UCLA Medical Center.

Then, in our issue that hit newsstands on March 6, we revealed that Sofia had chosen "one of her healthiest and closest friends" as a surrogate to carry the baby.

Two days later, the "New York Post" jumped on our story, claiming "exclusively" that Sofia was planning on using "a very close girlfriend" as a surrogate mom.

Once again, The ENQUIRER was ahead of the pack – proving that our pages are the place to get the latest celebrity news!

Britney sister's doggone CRAZY WEDDING

Pet pooch WILL BE RING BEARER

IF you think Britney Spears is filled with surprises, get ready for the wacky wedding of her little sis Jamie Lynn.

The 21-year-old aspiring country singer and her businessman beau James Watson have collared a very special ring bearer for the ceremony – their chocolate Labrador retriever Nice.

James, 30, is an avid hunter who likes to take his pet everywhere – and made sure his wedding would be no exception. He also did his proposing the old-fashioned way.

"ALTHOUGH JAMES AND JAMIE LYNN have been seeing each other for three years, he went through the formality of asking Jamie Lynn's dad for her hand in marriage," revealed a source close to the family.

Once he had dad Jamie Spears' blessing, the romantic groom-to-be then arranged a special evening to pop the question, hiring a cook to prepare a fantastic dinner for the couple at his house.

Jamie Lynn was previously engaged to marry Casey Aldridge, the father of her 4-year-old daughter Maddie, who she now wants to serve as a flower girl at the wedding.

"Maddie was just 1 year old when James came into the picture, so she is very close to him," said the source. "Jamie Lynn loves the fact that James has become a father figure for her little girl."

Jamie Lynn's dad Jamie holds Maddie close. Jamie Lynn was previously engaged to Casey Aldridge (right), Maddie's baby daddy

No date has yet been set. Jamie Lynn is busy recording a country album, and she and Maddie are splitting their time between Nashville and their Kentwood, La., home. But Jamie Lynn couldn't wait to share the happy news with fans and tweeted a picture of her left hand with a stunning diamond sparkler.

Said the source: "She's super happy and can't wait to get hitched."

Casey Anthony STERILIZATION SHOCKER

CASEY ANTHONY is telling pals that she's pregnant, and now outraged protesters are demanding that the Monster Mom be sterilized!

The horrified Casey critics are also organizing a public petition to request that her child be taken away at birth.

But in a sick twist, Casey claims that the child she's expecting will help heal the hole left in her heart by the death of her 2-year-old daughter Caylee, an insider revealed.

"It's outrageous that Casey Anthony should be allowed to bring another child into the world," declared a leading member of an anti-Casey group.

"That poor baby should be taken away from Casey the moment she gives birth, and she should be sterilized so that she can't have any more children."

March 4, 2013

Casey Anthony arrives at a courthouse for a bankruptcy hearing in Tampa, Fla.

The group's leader also plans to rally the protesters to fight Casey in court.

"I'm going to organize our group to start a petition demanding that Casey's child be removed from her care, and that she be sterilized," said the member, who asked to go unnamed for privacy reasons.

"WE'LL PRESENT THE PETITION TO THE local social services department when she gives birth."

Casey, 27, was released from jail in July 2011 after a jury acquitted her on charges that she'd brutally murdered little Caylee and dumped the toddler's body in a swampy area near the Orlando, Fla., home of her parents George and Cindy Anthony.

Little Caylee

Casey is determined to live her life her way, says a source

Called "America's Most Hated Woman," Casey remained in hiding until she made her first public appearance – wearing loose-fitting clothes – on March 4 for a bankruptcy hearing in Tampa, Fla.

"Casey is making a big deal about being more than a month pregnant," said an insider.

"Her eyes lit up when she told me that she was expecting, but she wouldn't tell me who the baby's father is.

"SHE JUST SAID THAT SHE FELL IN love with a very wealthy man while she's been in hiding. Casey said he's taking care of her financially, and he's so obsessed with her that he'll do anything for her.

"She told me that she's elated and vowed to protect her new baby. Casey says she wants to prove to the world she IS a good mother."

Despite that, Casey's pal is distressed over her pregnancy.

"Even though Casey looked me right in the eye when she told me that she was pregnant, I pray to God it isn't true," said the source.

"That's because Casey is a hunted woman, and probably always will be. She'll never be able to live a normal life, and her new baby would inherit that nightmare.

"But Casey doesn't care. She's determined to live her life her way, and to hell with everybody else!"

top 3 weight loss secrets!

There are thousands of diet products out there, but which one is right for you? We've looked at them all. Here are our 3 favorites. Remember to visit the individual websites for the full skinny on each product.

1 Super-Powerful Diet Pills Make Comeback!

Most of us thought the era of the "Super-Powerful" diet pill ended a few years back when the FDA removed Ephedra and Fen-Phen from the U.S. market because of safety concerns. Well, it turns out that "most of us" were wrong. TriAdalean™ and other "Amphetamine-like" compounds are coming out of hiding and are being heavily promoted on the Internet. A spokesman for TriAdalean emphasizes that these products are not for everyone because they are "extremely potent." We would add that TriAdalean is also expensive at $79, but the company says discount codes are available (we found that promo code "TRIAD4" will get you an instant $20 off at TriAdalean.com).

2 Is nighttime binge eating keeping you fat?

If nighttime cravings are sabotaging your diet, you're not alone. Researchers have pinpointed something called "the nocturnal feeding cycle" (or what we normal people call "nighttime binge eating"). So if you find yourself in front of the fridge with a pint of Häagen-Dazs a couple of hours after dinner, you might want to try SomnaTrim.™ The company says you just take two capsules an hour or two after dinner and this specially developed formula interrupts the nighttime binge-eating cycle by reducing stress and suppressing nighttime appetite. So those nighttime cravings are busted. (Use promo code "TRIM4" for free shipping.†)

3 Heard About "Combo Pilling"... Hollywood's Hottest New Weight-Loss Craze?

Ever wonder how Hollywood starlets get so thin... so fast? It could be "Combo Pilling"... the über-trendy, "underground" practice of combining two or more diet pills to create "super-charged" weight loss. Tinsel Town's favorite diet pill combination is Zantrex®-3 (the high energy fat burner) and Relacore (the calming, feel good, "belly fat" pill). One pill picks you up, the other pill calms you down... both of them help you lose weight... but together, oh my goodness!

BEST BODIES

Thin is in for MILEY CYRUS. The 20-year-old pop singer was practicing yoga poses when our photog captured "Hannah Montana" striking this pose on the beach in Costa Rica.

JANET JACKSON, who just revealed she's been married to Qatari businessman Wissam Al Mana for nearly a year now, seems to have gotten her yo-yo weight problem under control. The 46-year-old singer showed off a nicely toned bod during a jaunt to Sardinia.

Our cameras caught AVRIL LAVIGNE, 28, getting ready to hop on a boogie board while on vacation in Saint Tropez, France. And is there a man alive who wouldn't like to boogie with the curvy "Girlfriend" singer?

Now we know why hubby Will Smith smiles a lot. His actress wife JADA PINKETT SMITH, 41, is a Hawaiian eyeful during a visit to the Aloha State.

Warning...DANGEROUS curves ahead! Rapper NICKI MINAJ, 30, added a lot more heat to an Oahu beach when she revealed her voluptuous figure and radioactive-green hair in a hot pink bikini.

Any young man's next stop would be "Cougar Town" if they got to cuddle up with COURTENEY COX. In her black bikini, the 48-year-old "Friends" star brightened up the beach in St. Barts.

ALI LANDRY was Miss USA in 1996, but she hasn't lost a bit of her beauty queen looks. The 39-year-old model and mother of two (here in Miami Beach) is smokin' hot.

Hollywood's BEST & WORST BEACH BODIES

HOT OR NOT, celebs are always center of attention

THE chill is still in the air, but Hollywood's elite are already headed off to sunnier climes to soak up the sun and get a head start on their tans. And while many stars turn heads with their buff bods, others should stay safely covered and spend a little more time with their personal trainers. Here's an exclusive ENQUIRER look at Hollywood's best and worst beach bodies.

NICOLE KIDMAN, 45, still has a body to die for. The "Paperboy" actress (here spending a day at the beach in Sydney) was a super-sexy delight in a skintight Billabong top and white bikini bottoms.

Who wouldn't like to play "Hunger Games" with JENNIFER LAWRENCE? The 22-year-old Best Actress Oscar winner for "Silver Linings Playbook" gave us a terrific rear view while on vacation in Hawaii.

JENNIFER LOPEZ, 43, relaxes on board a yacht in Rio. The sight of J.Lo relaxing in a bikini is still a delight!

BEST BODIES

« Pop singer PINK, 33, flaunted her six-pack abs and tattoos while on vacation in Miami recently. The exercise buff, whose real name is Alecia Beth Moore, is a mom to daughter Willow, who was born in June 2011.

BEST BODIES

LEANN RIMES is always taking heat for being too thin. But the 30-year-old country cutie looks slenderific to us as she sports a pink bikini in Cabo San Lucas.

Making waves! TERESA GIUDICE, 40, gives a two-handed wave as she strikes an underwater pose at the Majestic resort in the Dominican Republic. "The Real Housewives of New Jersey" star takes our breath away.

"Bring It On" star GABRIELLE UNION flaunts her sexy bikini body on the beach in Miami. Gabrielle, 40, also appeared in the HBO hit "Something the Lord Made," and we thank the Lord for His beautiful creation.

"There is no battle with my bulge," boasts GABRIELLE ANWAR. We agree. The 43-year-old "Burn Notice" star showed off her svelte figure in a sexy white bikini during a trip to Miami.

Girl from Ipanema! Now that once super-skinny "Ally McBeal" star CALISTA FLOCKHART, 48, has put on some weight, she's a real bikini babe as she vacations in Rio.

Hollywood's BEST & WORST BEACH BODIES

HOT C[illegible]T celebs ar[illegible] always center [illegible]tenti[illegible]n

British reality TV star GEMMA COLLINS, 32, keeps on working out to slim down. But there's still a lot more to lose for the hefty-size honey from "The Only Way is Essex."

Tarantino unchained! QUENTIN TARANTINO heaves his rotund self into the waters of Mexico's Sea of Cortez. The controversial – and overweight – director, 49, made as big a splash as his movies.

Belly-sima! Someone should tell Italian TV host SIMONA VENTURA (shown here in Miami) that it's time for a one-piece swimsuit. The 47-year-old celeb, who was a judge on Italy's version of the "X Factor," needs to cover up that gut.

BELLY FLOPS

Rock star BETH DITTO, 32, makes no apologies for her size. The unconventional lead singer of The Gossip, who's set to marry girlfriend Kristen Ogata, thinks it's great that critics and fans talk about her body as much as her music. "I feel like it's just like taking one for the team," she says.

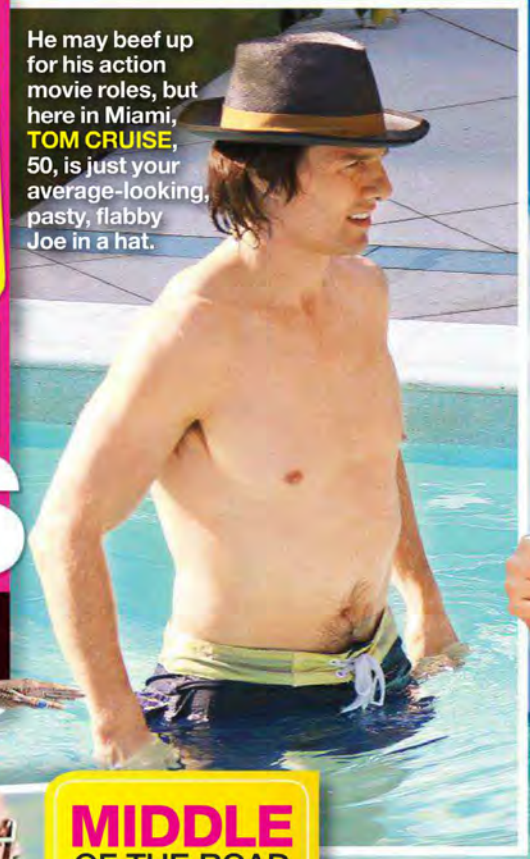
HOT OR NOT, celebs are [illegible] attention

At 67, BETTE MIDLER (here on vacation in Barbados) may be looking more like someone's favorite granny these days. But she'll forever be "The Divine Miss M."



He may beef up for his action movie roles, but here in Miami, TOM CRUISE, 50, is just your average-looking, pasty, flabby Joe in a hat.

Dive diva! Full-figured and powerful-looking KESHIA KNIGHT PULLIAM, 33, prepares to take the plunge for the upcoming celeb diving show "Splash." As a child, Keshia starred as Rudy Huxtable on "The Cosby Show."

MIDDLE OF THE ROAD

A very pregnant JESSICA SIMPSON, 32, covers up her swollen belly as she spends a day poolside at a Beverly Hills hotel. Daisy Duke is now expecting her second child.

DREW BARRYMORE, 38, has apparently given up on wearing an itsy-bitsy, teeny-weeny, polka-dot bikini while on vacation in Mexico. The "Charlie's Angels" star – who gave birth to daughter Olive last September – says: "I'm never going to have the kind of body that makes me excited about bikini season. I've never had a 'beach body.'"

No longer a "Desperate Housewife," EVA LONGORIA is in desperate need of a new diet. The 38-year-old star shows off her paunch while hanging out on Copacabana Beach in Rio.

THEN

She's not that skinny "Laugh- In" girl anymore – but who could be at 67? GOLDIE HAWN still tickles our fancy as she wades through the Malibu surf in a high-cut bathing suit.

Kudos to NICOLE EGGERT! The former "Baywatch" babe, 41, waged a losing battle of the bulge for years (photo inset). But she's won the war! Nicole showed off her once-again sex symbol looks.

KE$HA – the 26-year-old singer whose real name is Kesha Rose Sebert – shows off her odd-shaped beach body as she leaps around on a Sydney beach.

Chunky thighs aside, HEATHER LOCKLEAR is still a beach babe. The 51-year-old former "Dynasty" star sported this blue and floral tankini on a trip to Hawaii.

"Glee" star LEA MICHELE could use a little fine tuning. The 26-year-old actress and singer looked a bit bulgy in a red bikini while vacationing recently in Hawaii.

Hollywood's BEST & WORST BEACH BODIES

HOT OR NOT, celebs are always center

Bounty-full! DOG CHAPMAN, 60, lets it all hang out in Hawaii. With that gut, it's a wonder the "Bounty Hunter" could chase down any fugitives!

Country music star KEITH URBAN, 45, gave the French a look at his beefcake bod on a trip to Saint Jean Cap Ferrat. The "You Look Good in My Shirt" singer – who's married to Nicole Kidman – looks pretty good without his shirt.

Aerosmith rock legend and former "American Idol" judge STEVEN TYLER, 64, probably frightened off sunbathers as he emerged creature-like from the water in Maui.

BEACH BOYS

It's clear why out-of-shape comedian LOUIE ANDERSON nearly sank to the bottom of the pool during a recent L.A. taping of the upcoming celebrity diving show "Splash." The floundering former "Family Feud" host, 59, had to be rescued by fellow contestant, Detroit Lions star Ndamukong Suh and show divemaster Greg Louganis.

Hail to the chief! In swim trunks, BARACK OBAMA, 51, shows that he's really fit to be the president while spending a day splashing around on Kailua Beach during a family vacation in Hawaii.

Turn page for more BEACH BODIES

WORST BODIES

SHARON STONE needs a much-larger bikini bottom to hide all the cellulite invading her posterior. The 55-year-old "Basic Instinct" star is a dimpled diver on a seaside trip to Cannes.

It's probably best that RITA RUSIC, 52, not lean over when she spends a day at the beach. The Croatian-born TV personality, who appeared on the Italian version of "Dancing with the Stars," gave everyone a good look at her stomach wrinkles on a recent trip to Miami.

COURTNEY LOVE has looked better. The aging rocker, 48, was definitely not wrinkle-free as she spent a day on the beach in Hawaii.

"Skinny is not appealing to me," says MERCEDES JAVID. Guess not. The 40-year-old star of the popular reality show "Shahs of Sunset" didn't seem to mind that her rippling flesh was spilling out of her bikini poolside at an L.A. hotel.

Reality show queen BETHENNY FRANKEL, 42, may be stick-thin, but during a Miami Beach vacation she couldn't hide the cellulite that's attacking her hind quarters. If you're keeping count, Bethenny has appeared on "The Apprentice: Martha Stewart," "The Real Housewives of New York City," "Bethenny Getting Married," "Bethenny Ever After" and hosts "Bethenny."

That old-fashioned swimsuit suits ROSIE O'DONNELL. The 50-year-old comedian, who's been losing weight, was enjoying a water outing in Miami Beach.

Hollywood's BEST & WORST BEACH BODIES

HOT OR NOT, s a... alw... ter o... ention...

We caught JODIE STEWART, the funny plus-size actress, 35, poolside as she soaked up the sun at her apartment complex in College Station, Texas. Jodie's remembered for her one-night stand with Dane Cook in the movie "Good Luck Chuck."

Lighter than air! DONNA AIR, 33, needs a few trips to the drive-thru. The British TV host, who also appeared in "The Mummy Returns," would hardly make any waves with that pencil-thin figure here in the Caribbean.

With all of those tattoos, MIA TYLER hardly needs a cover-up at the beach! The daughter of rocker Steven and half sister of actress Liv, Mia, 34, is a plus-size model and proudly showed off her full figure during a family vacation in Hawaii.

WORST BODIES

≪ PERREY REEVES (here on the beach in Maui) stays lean with yoga exercises. But the 42-year-old "Entourage" star needs a little meat on her bones to fill out that bikini.

The sexy actress is tired of being left behind with the kids

Jolie's steamy L.A. nights

FLIRTY ANGIE PARTIES WITH HUNKS – while Brad's out of town

Angie's fed up with Brad taking side jaunts to party with his guy friends, says a source

ANGELINA JOLIE is tired of being left behind with six kids while sweetheart Brad Pitt travels the world – so she kicked up her heels in Los Angeles during his recent trip to France!

"Angie was fed up – she gets a little weary of being with the kids so much," said a source. "Meanwhile, Brad flits from one movie set to the next while taking side jaunts to party with his guy friends."

As The ENQUIRER recently reported, the couple's kids have been squabbling over screen roles since 4-year-old Vivienne got a plum part in her mom's big budget Disney movie, "Maleficent."

"Angie decided she needed a break – and cut loose," said the source.

ACCOMPANIED BY LONGTIME friend Holly Goline, the "Salt" star whooped it up at a fundraising party in Malibu on March 1. She drank wine and "flirted up a storm with lots of handsome men," including Ben Affleck and musician Peter Gabriel, according to the source.

Ben Affleck and Peter Gabriel were among the many men Angie cut loose with

"Angie was lapping up the attention," added the source. "She didn't appear to be missing Brad one bit and kept the party going past midnight."

Just a few days later, on March 5, the 37-year-old sexpot and her entourage enjoyed a political soiree at the Hollywood Roosevelt Hotel.

While Angie was living it up in L.A., Brad, 49, was overseeing the March 7 launch of the couple's Miraval Rose wine brand, named after their sprawling $60-million French estate.

"Angie is frustrated that Brad gallivants around the globe on his pet projects," continued the source. "She's showing him that she's not going to sit home twiddling her thumbs."

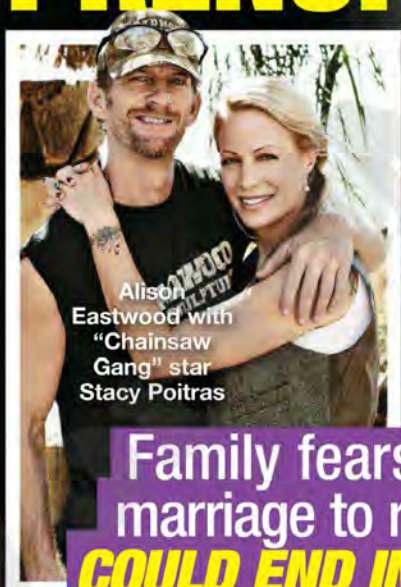
Clint daughter's MEGABUCK$ PRENUP



Alison Eastwood with "Chainsaw Gang" star Stacy Poitras

Family fears Alison's marriage to reality star COULD END IN DISASTER

TOUGH guy Clint Eastwood's family will make sure the fortune is protected by an airtight prenup before his daughter Alison's March 15 marriage to "Chainsaw Gang" star Stacy Poitras.

The 45-year-old wood carver – who leads a foursome of beer-swilling roughnecks at Deadwood Tree Sculptures – has dated Clint's 40-year-old actress daughter for five years.

Clint with first wife Maggie

ALTHOUGH THE CRUSTY screen legend agreed to give his daughter away to the reality star, it won't really make his day, suspects a close source.

"I bet Clint will insist they sign an ironclad prenup so that when Alison finally wises up and dumps Stacy, he can be absolutely sure his millions are protected," said the source.

Although Stacy carves out a pretty good living with his TV show and artwork sales, Clint will want to "make sure he will never be able to take the entire Eastwood family to the cleaners," added the source.

After Alison – Clint's daughter with first wife Maggie – and Stacy announced their engagement last year, they looked forward to planning a lavish wedding in Carmel. But perhaps due in part to Stacy's embarrassing antics – and Alison's friends begging her not to go through with it – they decided instead on a low-key, intimate wedding in Calabasas, Calif.

During the engagement, the source says Stacy rubbed his future father-in-law the wrong way, like when he kept saying he was engaged to "Clint Eastwood's daughter" instead of "Alison."

"In my opinion, Stacy is only after fame and money and to promote his show," charged the source. "But I bet Clint sees right through him!"

TO PAY OFF GAMBLING DEBTS

MAUREEN O'CONNOR won and lost a whopping one BILLION dollars in a wild nine-years-long gambling spree – and now the former San Diego mayor is in hot water for bilking her late husband's charitable foundation out of more than $2 million to pay off her debts!

The 66-year-old began gambling using the $40-$50 million fortune she'd been left after the 1994 death of her husband, Jack in the Box restaurant founder Robert O. Peterson.

AUTHORITIES SAID O'CONNOR, who served as San Diego's mayor from 1986 to 1992, became addicted to playing video poker at casinos in San Diego, Las Vegas and Atlantic City, N.J. "She'd literally sit there hour after hour, day after day. She became totally hooked on it," said Phillip Halpern, chief of the major frauds division of the U.S. Attorney's Office in San Diego.

In 2011, O'Connor had a golf-ball-size tumor removed from her brain – and says her desire to gamble immediately disappeared. But by that time, she had won and lost $1 billion – and was $13 million in the hole. To pay off her debts, O'Connor sold a $7 million hotel she owned and her $2.5 million home in La Jolla, Calif. She covered the outstanding balance by raiding a charity her husband had set up.

"[O'Connor] dedicated much of her life to charitable work and bettering the lives of the people she was elected to serve," added Halpern.

"But no one is above the law, and it was for this reason we brought the case against her."

No one is above the law

According to her plea deal, O'Connor – now suffering from a serious medical condition – must repay the money within two years and get treatment for her gambling addiction or face up to 10 years behind bars.

Before her tragic death just two years ago, Elizabeth Taylor reflected on her life: "I've been lucky...everything was handed to me: looks, fame, wealth, honors, love. But I've paid for that luck with disasters – terrible illnesses, destructive addictions, broken marriages." While much of the movie icon's personal dramas played out in public, the most shocking secrets of Liz's private life haven't been revealed...until now. In an 84-page special report from the editors of The National ENQUIRER, we rip the lid off her tempestuous on-again, off-again marriage to the love of her life, Richard Burton, as well as her tumultuous relationships with her four children – and what they reveal now about their mother. Plus, we pay tribute to her extraordinary life as a film legend, fragrance and jewelry mogul and tireless activist.

"I wanted to get healthier so I could enjoy family time more... now i can"

Marie Osmond is a world-famous entertainer, a successful businesswoman and a mom... but she wasn't healthy. Juggling her career and family took up most of Marie's time, leaving little time to take care of herself. As a result, she found that she was unhappy, lethargic—and 50 pounds overweight. Determined to better herself for the sake of her family, she tried Nutrisystem. Today, she's healthy, happy and loving life!

I gradually got heavier over time. I'd gain a few pounds, then buy a bigger dress. Then I'd gain a few more pounds, get a bigger jacket, then a bigger dress. My mother had carried extra weight most of her life, and that made her look older. As I approached my 50s, I was 50 pounds overweight, tired all the time, and definitely looked older—and felt older. I started to think, Like mother, like daughter.

My confidence was down, and I was unhappy about how I looked and felt. I had to lose weight, but the thought of another diet sapped my energy. Living in the spotlight, I'd wasted 25 years dieting in an unhealthy way.

I was always doing things for my family first, but I knew it was finally time to focus on me.

Women tend to spend a lot of time caring for everyone else but spend zero time for ourselves; I certainly did. But as the saying goes, If momma ain't happy, ain't nobody happy. I wanted to do something great for me—get healthy—so I could do something great for my family.

Counting, measuring, weighing in—I've been there. Weight loss plans, I've tried them all. Thankfully, I found Nutrisystem. It's the only one that worked for me. It's simple—they send you food, you just heat it up and enjoy it—and it taught me how to eat right. Nutrisystem took the struggle out of weight loss and finally got me off that terrible weight loss rollercoaster I was on for years. I lost 50 pounds* and now I feel wonderful!

I look and feel better in my clothes, too. In fact, my daughter found an amazing costume that I wore as a teen and dared me to try it on. It fit! I admit: it's fun to wear that dress on stage again. Plus, I retired my "mom jeans"—now I can wear skinny jeans!

It's not being skinny that makes me happy; it's that I'm healthier.

Most important, now I can enjoy family time more. I have more energy doing things with my four younger children than I had with my four older children. That's the truth. Plus, I'm just happy and loving life so much. So losing weight made me a better mom—because I'm a happier mom. And that makes all the difference in the world.

Simply put, I can honestly say that losing weight with Nutrisystem has completely changed my life. It can change yours, too.

AGONIZING HEADACHES

BELOVED actress Valerie Harper didn't listen to her dear friend Mary Tyler Moore – and it might have cost the former "Rhoda" star her life!

Mary, 76, was recovering from delicate brain surgery in 2011 when she urged Valerie to get a complete medical checkup, insiders say. Sadly, the 72-year-old actress brushed her off – and now, she recently revealed she's suffering from inoperable brain cancer and doctors give her just three to six months to live.

"MARY WAS RECOVERING after a benign tumor had been removed from the lining of her brain when she told Valerie to get repeated checkups," said a source.

"She was especially concerned because Val had said that she was having severe headaches and just didn't feel right."

Even though Valerie had successfully battled lung cancer in 2009, she ignored Mary's warning to get a brain scan, said the source. "Now, ironically, Val's terminal brain cancer is in the same region of the brain where Mary's tumor was," said the source. "If Val had followed Mary's advice, she probably wouldn't be doomed to die."

The two women have been close since Valerie played the role of Mary's sassy neighbor Rhoda Morgenstern on the iconic '70s sitcom, the "Mary Tyler Moore" show.

Val went on to star in the spin-off, "Rhoda," and later played a suburban mom on the '80s show "Valerie." Over the years, she scored eight Emmy nominations and won the prestigious award four times.

She revealed on Feb. 6 that she'd been diagnosed with terminal brain cancer on Jan. 15 after her face went numb.

It's a rare form of the disease called leptomeningeal carcinomatosis, and experts believe it may have been triggered by her previous battle with lung cancer.

Doctors first told Valerie's husband Tony Cacciotti of the deadly diagnosis, and after he relayed the bad news to her, "Mary was the first person Val told about it," said the source. "Now, despite her own many health problems from years of battling diabetes, Mary is doing what she can to make Val's remaining days as joy-filled as possible."

DRESSED to THRILL

ALISON BRIE
Trend alert! Jumpsuits are rocking the red carpet – and the "Community" star steps right up in an electric blue number that shows off her teeny-tiny waist. Those steel toes are wicked!

CHRISTA B. ALLEN
Dressing well is the best "Revenge" for TV cutie Christa. Her little white dress by Georges Chakra Couture gets a princessy twist with puffed sleeves and silver sparkle.

TINA FEY
Wow! Tina's really upped her fashion cred. She's big-city edgy in a J. Mendel fitted leather top and metallic tweed pencil skirt at the NYC premiere of her rom-com "Admission."

SHOSHANNA LONSTEIN GRUSS
The designer – Jerry Seinfeld's teen angel back in the day – brilliantly pairs the absinthe-colored detail on her Charlotte Olympia heels with a fun fit-and-flare dress.

DUCHESS OF CAMBRIDGE

The royal mom-to-be accents her baby bump by buckling her belt off-center. The first time that Kate wore this fitted Hobbs coat on Valentine's Day 2012, it sold out instantly.

EMMY ROSSUM

Nobody brings the pretty like Emmy! The "Beautiful Creatures" star swings into spring in a sweet baby blue Oscar de la Renta frock with flashy floral embroidery at a NYC gala.

HALLE BERRY

Pose much? Halle just can't quit her Bond girl past. She ramps up her tough chick sex appeal with a chain-link belt and legs-wide-open leather skirt by Helmut Lang at "The Call" premiere in L.A.

HELEN MIRREN

Oh, the agony of de-feet! If only Helen had ditched those booties! But then she might have choked on the rope of pearls.

Kristen's GAY TIME WITHOUT ROB

'Twilight' actress GETS COZY WITH KATY PERRY'S ASSISTANT

MARCH 3

Kristen (right) and Tamra have been spending all their free time together, says a source

> 'Kristen's more comfortable with exploring her own sexuality'

WHEN Rob's away, Kristen will play!

While Rob Pattinson is far away filming in Australia, his on-again, off-again girlfriend Kristen Stewart is stepping out with a hot new pal – Katy Perry's assistant Tamra Natisin. And that could spell big trouble for the screen hunk and his "Twilight" co-star, who are still picking up the pieces after her shocking affair with her married "Snow White and the Huntsman" director Rupert Sanders, 42.

"Rob will hit the roof when he sees photos of Kristen and Tamra hanging out together," predicted an insider. "It's obvious to all of her friends that there's a romance brewing between them."

Robert Pattinson

ON MARCH 3, FREE-SPIRITED Kristen, 22, raised eyebrows by lavishing attention on Tamra at Hollywood's Hotel Cafe. "They arrived together and spent the entire night talking to each other, ignoring everyone around them," revealed the insider. "After a few hours, they left together. Lately, Kristen and Tamra have been spending all their free time together."

Meanwhile, 26-year-old Pattinson has reportedly banned Kristen from visiting him so he can concentrate on his film project. But sources say she doesn't seem to be missing him now that she's found Tamra, who's said to be very vocal about equality for same-sex couples and even attended a gay pride rally in the past year.

Now, people are wondering if Kristen could be following in the footsteps of her mom Jules, a writer/director who moved in with her girlfriend after splitting from her husband in June 2010, according to the source. "All of Jules' close friends are gay," said the source, "and she's made Kristen more comfortable with exploring her own sexuality."

CHANNING TATUM'S BABY DILEMMA

Wife wants hunk to choose family over career

CHANNING TATUM's pregnant wife is begging the "Magic Mike" star to dump some of his work commitments so he can assume diaper duty!

The handsome actor and his wife, Jenna, recently revealed that their first child – due in late spring – will be born in London, where Channing will be shooting a film. And the 32-year-old heartthrob further admitted that "there will be no downtime whatsoever after that."

Channing in "Magic Mike"

That has beautiful actress Jenna VERY worried, a friend told The ENQUIRER. "Jenna's at her wits' end over Channing's breakneck schedule," the friend said. "She's so proud of him and what he's achieving as an actor and producer, but there's just no time for setting up house as a new family and establishing a sense of normalcy for their baby.

"SHE'S BEGGING Channing to take a break, not only for their baby's sake, but for their marriage."

Despite her plea, Tatum is said to be determined to keep his hot streak going after starring in three No. 1 box-office hits, "Magic Mike," "The Vow" and "21 Jump Street."

Tatum just finished shooting the drama "Foxcatcher" and has four more films in the works that will keep him hopping – and on location – well into 2014.

"It's a great schedule for an actor, but a lousy one for a new dad," noted the friend.

Meanwhile, Jenna's career is also on the upswing. After gaining notoriety playing a newlywed in FX's "American Horror Story," she's won a starring role in the upcoming Lifetime series, "Witches of East End." "Channing and Jenna could become victims of their own success," warned the friend. "You fear it will end up tearing them apart."

THOU SHALT MOVE ABOUT

Sitting is hazardous to your health!

Middle-aged men who sit four hours or less a day suffer fewer chronic diseases – including cancer, diabetes, heart disease and high blood pressure – than those sitting more than four hours daily, according to a study of more than 60,000 subjects.

"We saw a steady stair-step increase in risk of chronic diseases the more that participants sat," said Kansas State University researcher Richard Rosenkranz. "The group sitting more than eight hours clearly had the highest risk."

Why some older folks SLOW DOWN

Fat thighs are a major culprit in slowing down senior citizens. Wake Forest Baptist Medical Center researchers assessed the walking speed of more than 2,300 men and women between ages 70 and 79, and found a direct link between increasing thigh fat and how fast they could get around. The study suggests that preventing age-related declines in walking speed isn't just about preserving muscle mass, it's also about preventing fat gain.

Foods & ACNE

Suffering from acne? Take a hard look at your diet.

New York University scientists analyzed years of studies on diet and acne and concluded that eating dairy products and high glycemic index food – including white rice, white potatoes and flaked corn cereals – appeared to be linked to acne. "The medical community should not dismiss the possibility of diet therapy as (part of the) treatment for acne," says NYU researcher Jennifer Burris.

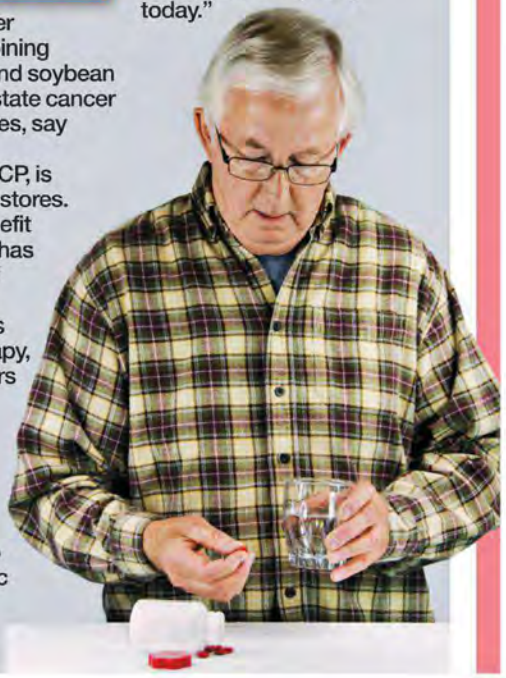
"At this time, the best approach is to address each acne patient individually, carefully considering the possibility of dietary counseling."

New steroid DANGER!

People with low back pain caused by spinal stenosis should avoid steroid injections.

This common treatment might worsen the narrowing of open spaces within the spine, say Thomas Jefferson University experts. They found that patients receiving the injections did not improve as much in four years as those who went without the steroid treatment. What's more, when those patients required back surgery, it tended to be more complicated if they previously had the injections.

Natural prostate CANCER FIGHTER?



An over-the-counter supplement, combining nontoxic mushrooms and soybean extract, could help prostate cancer patients extend their lives, say experts.

The product, called GCP, is available in health food stores.

The most likely to benefit are men whose cancer has spread to other parts of the body and have had their testosterone levels lowered with drug therapy, according to researchers at the University of California, Davis.

Although this new study was done with mice, human studies are expected to follow.

"We want to see up to 75 percent of metastatic prostate cancer patients lower their PSA levels (a marker for prostate cancer), and GCP holds promise of accomplishing this goal," says Dr. Ralph de Vere of UC Davis. "If that happens, it would probably be a greater therapy than any drug today."

Why Did Your Last Diet Fail?

Could It Be A Borderline Thyroid Problem?

Millions of women are plagued by two haunting questions: "Why did my last diet fail?" and "What can I do next?" ThyroStart™ – the only thyroid support product developed specifically for the special needs of women who find it difficult to lose excess body weight – provides a serious answer to both questions.

What Does Poor Thyroid Health Have to Do with Losing Weight?

Everyone knows that the ability to lose weight can be severely impaired by poor thyroid health. However, while millions of women suffer from thyroid dysfunction, few are aware that they have a thyroid problem and even fewer receive treatment. Why? Because many of the symptoms or indicators associated with sub-optimal thyroid health – like weight gain, mood swings, occasional cold hands or feet and fatigue – are commonplace and relatively minor. How many women do you know who run to the doctor every time their hands and feet get cold, they get a bit moody or feel a little tired in the middle of the day? Not many.

Was Your Last Attempt to Lose Weight Sabotaged by Poor Thyroid Function?

Think about it: how many times have you gone on a weight-loss program, lost a few pounds and then hit a brick wall? No matter what you do, you can't seem to lose another ounce. Sound familiar? If so, your present weight gain – or failure to lose weight in the past – may not be your fault. For millions of overweight women, weight gain and diet failure can be traced to sub-clinical, poor thyroid health... a reduction in optimum thyroid hormone output that could have actually been caused by your latest attempt to lose weight.

How Many Women Are Affected by a Poorly Functioning Thyroid?

FACT: According to a recent report, 13 million Americans, 11 million of them women, have a malfunctioning thyroid and most of them don't know it. Even more important is the fact that there could be tens of millions more with "borderline" thyroid function.

How Does a Lack of Adequate Thyroid Function Prevent a Loss of Excess Body Fat and Body Weight?

FACT: Thyroid hormones are responsible for the conversion of stored body fat into free fatty acids – the only form of fat the body can use for fuel. Neither thermogenesis nor loss of excess body fat can occur without adequate thyroid hormones making sufficient free fatty acids available for fuel. Thyroid hormones make the body more sensitive to norepinephrine – the neurotransmitter (chemical messenger)

7. Do you feel bloated?
8. Are your nails easily broken?

If you answered "YES" to two or more of these questions, your weight-loss program could benefit from ThyroStart.

responsible for activating the fat-burning process (thermogenesis). This means that less norepinephrine is required to utilize free fatty acids for energy – reducing unsightly body fat stores in the process.

Can a Lack of Thyroid-Specific Nutrients Trigger "Borderline" Thyroid Malfunction?

FACT: Inadequate nutritional support is one of the established causes of poor thyroid health. Common sense dictates that as you indiscriminately reduce caloric consumption in an effort to quickly shed excess body weight, you also reduce the nutritional support necessary to maintain "borderline" thyroid function.

FACT: For the tens of millions of overweight women with potential "borderline" thyroid function, their mere participation in an ill-conceived weight-loss program of unbalanced, reduced caloric intake and increased exercise can send them over the edge. After just a few days of such "dieting," you can hit the proverbial "weight-loss plateau," oftentimes resulting from a sudden drop in thyroid-specific nutrients. In other words, a drastic reduction of caloric intake, without the addition of thyroid-specific nutritional support, may be the cause of "weight-loss plateau" and ultimate diet failure. (What irony! The harder you try to lose weight, the better your chance of failure becomes.)

ThyroStart Takes the Worry Out of Dieting.

Let's face it, the fact that you are reading this ThyroStart announcement makes two things obvious: first of all, you're sick and tired of being overweight and out of shape. Secondly, something went wrong with your last attempt at losing weight and you don't want the same thing to happen again.

ThyroStart's exclusive, thyroid-specific formula provides women with the complete glandular and nutritional support necessary for adequate thyroid function while dieting.

What Is ThyroStart™, and Can It Help You Lose Weight?

ThyroStart is an exciting new weight-loss tool designed as "Diet Assurance" for women who find it difficult to lose excess body fat and body weight. ThyroStart has been specifically formulated to eliminate the vexation of thyroid "melt-down" caused by inadequate nutritional support while dieting.

Additionally, ThyroStart helps you maintain high energy levels, helps prevent unwanted mood swings and will help you feel better overall. Supplementing any diet program with ThyroStart's supportive and strengthening nutrients is not only essential to maintain optimum thyroid function, but it's the smart thing to do.

How can you find ThyroStart?

ThyroStart will not be available in stores until May 23, 2013. Can't wait? You can order directly from www.ThyroStart.com or call 1-800-237-0701. Use promo code THY31 at checkout and get Free Shipping.

What's hot this week

The Good Wife

Sunday, March 24, 9 p.m. ET, CBS

No lawyer ever waives attorney/client privilege without a darn good reason. Well, tonight, Alicia (Julianna Margulies) has one. Her client is dead! He's been murdered and the info he had could help Alicia and the authorities find his killer before he strikes again. But they'd better hurry, as the maniac has someone very close to Alicia in his sights. Meanwhile, Peter (Chris Noth) and Mike Kresteva (Matthew Perry) compete for an influential endorsement. And Diane (Christine Baranski) gets an incredible offer on this all-new suspense-filled and drama-packed episode. John Noble guest stars as Alicia's murdered client and Stockard Channing returns as Alicia's mother.

Julianna Margulies and Matthew Perry

Red Widow

Sunday, March 24, 10 p.m. ET, ABC

Marta Walraven (Radha Mitchell) continues to be full of devious surprises as she pays off her deceased mobster husband's debts by working for crime lord Nicholae Schiller (Goran Visnjic). While dazzling Schiller with her business savvy, Marta deeply immerses herself into the gangster's operation, hoping to get something on him. Not easy to do while under the watchful eye of her stunning and powerful co-worker, Alexandra, with whom Schiller has much history. Meanwhile, Marta agrees to wear a wire to a meeting to help build a case that will bring Schiller down and get him off her back for good. Branka Katic guest stars as Alexandra De Costa.

Radha Mitchell as widow Marta Walraven

Duck Dynasty

Wednesday, March 27, 10 p.m. ET, A&E

A lost wedding ring is one of the oldest sitcom plots ever. But real-life redneck millionaires and duck call moguls the Robertson clan, aka "The Quack Pack," have ways of dealing with the problem that no Hollywood writer could ever dream up. Tonight, Missy replaces the wedding ring that her hubby, Jase, lost years ago. But when he loses his new one on a duck hunt, Jase must find a way to appease Missy before she "rings" his red neck. Meanwhile, Si searches for the ring with his metal detector. But, instead, he finds the treasure he buried years ago when he returned from Vietnam, as the wild and wacky Robertson saga quacks on.

Joan & Melissa: Joan Knows Best?

Saturday, March 30, 9 p.m. ET, WE tv

It may almost be Easter, but it's still only Thanksgiving on "Joan & Melissa." Tonight, Joan prepares for her annual Thanksgiving feast at her posh New York City apartment. But she'll be thankful if she just can escape her annoying neighbor with whom she has a world-class confrontation. Meanwhile, Melissa goes skating in NYC's Wollman Rink with her hunky British boy toy, actor Duncan Mais. And she's shocked when he accepts an invitation to Joan's holiday happening. Of course, Joan is wary of this English gentleman, who turns out to have a secret in his past: His mother was one of the first "Playboy" bunnies in the U.K. Will Joan approve of the son of a Bunny on turkey day? Let's hope so, for Melissa's sake!

ROMA TOUCHED BY 'THE BIBLE'

Actress believes hit miniseries was divine calling

ROMA DOWNEY says the "voice" of God inspired her to help create the History Channel's hit miniseries "The Bible" in her ongoing quest to spread her faith.

"Roma truly feels as if God has chosen her to do this," said a friend.

Until recently, the 52-year-old Irish beauty was best known for her role as the angel Monica on the TV series "Touched by an Angel."

But the runaway success of "The Bible" has brought her back into the limelight, where she can best spread "the good news."

"Three-and-a-half years ago, I felt the call to do this," Roma said. "I got my husband to share the vision. He is a great man for making things happen. He doesn't hear the word 'no.'"

That husband is Mark Burnett, producer of popular reality TV shows including "Survivor," "The Voice" and "Shark Tank." The couple wed in 2007.

Roma and husband Mark Burnett

"While there have been times I'd hoped that an angel like the Monica I played would show up, we know that God speaks to us in much quieter and subtler ways," Roma said. "It's in the quiet times that that voice called. I felt the tug of it."

"The Bible" is an epic 10-hour docudrama that uses spectacular computer-generated graphics and an international cast – including Roma as the Virgin Mary – to illustrate the Holy Book from "Genesis" to "Revelation."

Roma is also spreading her message to preschoolers in a series of books and DVDs called "Little Angels."

"They are such sponges at this age," she noted. "There is such an opportunity here to sow seeds of faith in our little children."

De Niro has heart

I wasn't surprised to read about Robert De Niro sticking up for a young busboy (Gossip with Mike Walker, Feb. 18). In 1979, while working as an extra in De Niro's "Raging Bull," I witnessed his sensitivity and kindness. He even threw a party to which all of us extras were invited!

– Louis P., La Crescenta, Calif.

I get sick and tired of people blaming celebrities for what their relatives do (Bill Clinton's Cocaine-Crazed Brother Had Me Beaten Up, Feb. 18). Sorry, lady, but you knew what Roger was like and you chose to be with him. Roger is to blame for his own actions. Leave Bill out of it.

– Lori B., Philadelphia, Pa.

$50 Letter of the Week

Don't needle Angus over new hobby

There are many ways to relieve stress, including drinking and taking drugs. "Two and a Half Men" star Angus T. Jones has taken up knitting as his stress reliever ("Half Man" Angus Gets the Needle, Feb. 25). Knitting is a safe, productive and creative stress buster. Good for him!

HOW TO PLAY

You must fill in every empty square in the Sudoku grid. There's no right way of going about this, but there is only ever one solution. The big grid is split into nine mini-grids. There are nine rows running left to right and nine columns running down. In every row, you must have each of the numbers 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, 8 and 9. These can be in any order. The same applies to columns and mini-grids: place every number 1 through 9 in each column and in each mini-grid.

The daredevil is madly in love with fellow driver Ricky Stenhouse Jr.

Danica RACING TO ALTAR

Not-yet-divorced NASCAR beauty IN RUSH TO TIE KNOT

NASCAR hottie Danica Patrick is ready to race to the altar with fellow driver Ricky Stenhouse Jr., sources say – but she has to get divorced first!

The 30-year-old speed queen walked away without a scratch after her car blew a tire and smashed into the wall during a race in Phoenix on March 3.

But the big bang-up prompted her to re-evaluate her romance with 25-year-old rookie Ricky, sources say.

"After Danica spun out of control and hit the wall, Ricky was the first thing that came to her mind," said an insider. "She's madly in love with him and wants to be his bride. Friends predict they'll have a racetrack wedding soon."

Danica filed for divorce from hubby Paul Hospenthal, a physical therapist 17 years her senior, on Jan. 3. They met when he treated her for an injury, and tied the knot in 2005.

Now daredevil Danica – who became the first woman to win a Sprint Cup pole position and lead the Daytona 500 – is ready to fast-track the divorce, insiders say, and put the pedal to the metal on wedding plans.

"Danica is still reeling from the crash," said the source. "But it's made her reprioritize what's really important in her life.

"She told a pal, 'Whatever it is you really want to do, you need to do it and not wait.' She's ready to prove wrong all the naysayers who predicted her romance with Ricky wouldn't last."

NANNY SEALS!

Combat vets are being retrained to mind kids

IT's hard to find good help, especially when it comes to someone you can trust to care for your kids.

But former Navy SEAL Jonathan Gilliam believes he's come up with the perfect solution for parents who want a nanny that's just the right combination of tough and tender – he's training female military vets to take care of kids. And if you want, they come packing heat!

"If you want an armed nanny, we will be able to provide one," said Gilliam. "We're in the business of providing parents with the ultimate in protection for their children.

"These are ladies who know exactly what to do, armed or unarmed, in a crisis situation – professionals who can keep their heads no matter what's thrown at them. In this day and age, there's a need for their special skills."

GILLIAM, 43, FORMED HIS TACTICAL Nannies unit following the New York killings of two children allegedly by their nanny in October. Cops say 6-year-old Lucia Krim and her 2-year-old brother Leo were stabbed to death in their Upper East Side apartment by their caregiver, Yoselyn Ortega.

"That family thought they'd screened the nanny, but they didn't really know who she was," said Gilliam. "Our nannies will be fully screened military veterans with exemplary records."

Gilliam adds that it's a win-win situation for both the families and the nannies because veterans often have difficulty getting jobs in the private sector due to a lack of college degrees. But they have a wealth of experience in crisis management, human resources and security.

"Companies who hire veterans win because they're getting people who have been trained in conflict resolution, medical situations and how to react under extreme pressure," Gilliam explained. "And that includes female veterans, who make first-class nannies. These women have a proven track record. They're veterans protecting the future of the USA.

"They can change diapers as easily as they can reload a semiautomatic. They're trained to protect people – in this case, kids – with their own lives."

But quality nannies don't come cheap. The top-grade service costs a minimum of $1,500 a week!

One of the tough-but-tender nannies already on board is Army reservist Melissa Fraga, 23, of Miami.

She's been trained to track enemies and oversee mission communications. She's also a certified combat lifesaver, meaning she has high-level first-aid training.

Not only that, she loves children and has taught mixed martial arts to kids ranging in age from 4 to 14.

"I specialize in UFC-style (Ultimate Fighting Championship) fighting and teaching kids how to disarm an opponent," she said. "Military training puts you in the most stressful situations possible and teaches you how to always maintain your cool no matter the pressure.

"That's the extra dimension that we bring as nannies."
